2005

Short-Film Festival

What story would you like to tell? Full Circle Studios invited you to tell it to the world.

Here's ten filmmakers who accepted the challenge!

Congratulations to all of the filmmakers who entered the festival! Great work. Just getting a project completed is a testament to your dedication and perseverance.

The judges will be writing down their comments so you can get feedback on your work. This is the most important thing you'll receive, but there is also public recognition of your work.
